

Essential global healing needs – an especially relevant dream – Peter Hesse

Waking up on Sunday morning, 13 November 2022, I did not make notes of my dream – of what appeared in my subconscious mind – unlike after receiving rare dream messages which should not get lost during the day.

Therefore, I needed to reconstruct my last night's mystic reality which had appeared in my dream – to further reflect on this dream-message:

1.- One essential global need is to realize that too many individuals believe in the supremacy of materialism as a guiding principle. The alternatives LOVE / empathy and solidarity in our relationship with other human beings need to be reanimated.

2.- Becoming more conscious of the beauty of diversity in nature as well as in our global cultures is another healing need to replace materialism and individual greed.

3.- To emotionally learn to feel the value of peaceful community and transform such higher consciousness into LOVE in action is what our humanity needs urgently.

These were the essential 3 healing needs in my dream-message (in my memory).

To receive a guiding message in a dream may not be the most common experience a rational human being can expect – but it happened to me – and I am grateful to discover that this “spirit” is not demanding, but does offer possibilities!

My rational mind suggests to extend the widely accepted “Golden Rule” (do not impose on others, what you do not want to be imposed on you) between lovers of all colours and cultures to the business-world.

Of course, such an extension of a highly accepted basic human value to global business needs some inner wake-up process first to realize the most harmful results of selfish greed in global action disregarding the Golden Rule.
